Just loving live performance and movie theatre 🎭

Just my theatre journal 📖

📍 NYC

The Harvest at Chain Theatre is a heartfelt family drama set on a Montana wheat farm. Six adult siblings return home to help their aging parents cut the crop and what unfolds is a mix of old tensions, buried history, and harsh reality of trying to keep a small family farm alive in the modern world. I went on their first night performing in NYC and the cast came in at 200% energy. Seeing a non-New York company bring their storytelling here is a reminder that the theatre is bigger than this city. There are entire worlds and voices beyond the five boroughs and this show brings that honesty with it.
